A Magnificent Campaign Rally.

The old City Hall, in the Diamond, perhaps never before contained such an immense audience as was assembled last night to hear the speech of Col. Robert G. Ingersoll, of Peoria, Illinois, whose eloquent address at the Cincinnati Convention, nominating the Hon. James G. Blaine for President of the United States, won him a name that is known to-day throughout the entire country. The crowd filled every foot of space in the large hall, and listened in rapt attention to the remarks of the gifted speaker, time and again interrupting him with thunders of applause. He spoke from a temporary stand erected on the east side of the room. The platform at the north end was occupied chiefly by ladies, who evidently were as deeply interested as the men in the words of the distinguished visitor. Owing to an accident on the Pennsylvania railroad Mr. Ingersoll was detained and did not arrive until half-past eight o'clock. The interim was occupied in the delivery of speeches by Hon. T. J. Bigham and Major A. M. Brown. Mr. Ingersoll commenced speaking at a quarter o nine o'clock, and did not leave the stand until eleven. The audience would willingly have remained as much longer had he lengthened his speech. His references to Lincoln, Grant and Blaine were received with prolonged applause, but particularly was it the case when the name of the latter was mentioned. Then the cheering, shouting, clapping of hands and stamping of feet did not subside for fully three minutes. It was a tremendous and almost unequalled outburst of uproarious enthusiasm, and told better than could be described in words the depth of affection entertained by the public for Mr. Blaine, the man who, as Mr. Ingersoll said, throttled the rebels in Congress and held them until their faces were as black as their records and their tongues hung out like

An opening speech of minutes length was ma Bigham, after which the glee club sang the popula lad, "Hold the Fort fo Wheeler."

In compliance with an imperative demand from the audience, Major A. M. Brown said he was very willing to fill up the time as best he could before the arrival of Mr. Ingersoll, whom all, of course, wanted to hear. He spoke of what he pronounced a self-evident fact, that Allegheny county is sound to the core for the Republican party, and would show it at the November election, when he hoped to see it roll up for the ticket such a majority as would tell to the world that it is entitled to the name that Lincoln gave it, viz, the State of Allegheny. The news from Maine and Vermont indicate that the tide of victory has set in, but in order to insure complete and unequivocal success, it is necessary for the Republican voters to hang out their banners and go to work to win such a victory as will teach the rebels of the South that we are yet true to our country, and that freedom is a boon which we will not permit to see snatched from us. The Republican party is yet young, healthy and vigorous and is covered all over with stars of victories won on fields of battle and victories of peace at home. I would ask no higher honor than to have it said of me in the future, "here lies a man who worked in the Republican party." The Democratic cry is Tilden, Hendricks and Reform, but the latter is a delusion and a snare. It is a word unknown to the Democratic party and never heard of in it, either in history or by word of mouth. Its record shows that it has always been going backward and never forward. During the war nearly all the Democrats either went to Canada or to the rear. Their political platforms have ever been shining examples of inconsistency. They are either like a dream, go by contrarys, or like a Brooklyn love letter, meaning the reverse of what they say. I can forgive some who cling to the name of Democrat, but not those who vote with the party to-day. The Democratic party of Jackson's day is dead, and the memory of Jimmy Buchanan's party cannot be deodorized so as to make it sweet to the nostrils of loyal men. In conclusion Mr. Brown reviewed the record of the late Confederate Congress, as he called it, spoke briefly of Tilden and Hendricks, and touched upon the reform and greenback issues, not forgetting Tilden's false income return. Then he gave way to Mr. Ingersoll, who came upon the platform while he was speaking.

Speech of Mr. Ingersoll.

The appearance at the front of the stand of the round, good-natured face of the staunch friend of Mr. Blaine, the President having introduced him, was greeted with applause. He spoke as follows:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN—It is not my fault that you have been kept waiting. It was either the fault of the railroad company or of a Democrat who was on the track. (Applause.) There are two parties now asking for your support, and it is the duty of every American to make a conscientious choice. This is a free country and every man in it is at liberty to make just such a choice as he pleases. The Republican party is the only one in favor of intellectual liberty throughout the world. It is in favor of allowing every man to enjoy the fruits of his labor and the fruits of his brain. It says to every man, "think for yourself, the world is broad and big enough for every one to stand in. Believe what you will, and if you are in favor of human progress come with us and fight the great battle." Any man with as much sense as a post, or even as senseless as the editor of a Post, ought to know that every human being has the right to think as he pleases. I despise the man that doesn't own himself. I despise the man who has given a mortgage or a deed of trust on his soul. (Applause.)

The Republican party is the grandest ever known in the history of the world. It says to you, do your own thinking, be yourself. It does not come to you like a detective of the devil. Its record is bright and glorious and it is not afraid to point back to it. On the other side the Democratic party says let by-gones be by-gones. For God sake don't examine into our pedigree. (Applause.) It is true we believed in human slavery and secession but, if you are a polite man don't mention it. (Applause.) Suppose a man wants to hire an engineer. He examines the man's past record and finds out that he has bursted every engine over which he had control. He says to the man, "I can't hire you; you have bursted every engine you ever had charge of." The man replies: "Oh, you ain't willing to let by-gones be by-gones." Another man wants to borrow money of you. You tell him that he never paid a debt in his life, and that his words and his note are of no more value than a broken egg or a last year's bird nest. Then he charges you with going back on him in that style. Just such, I tell you, is the history of the Democratic party. Good character rests on a record, and not a prospectus. The Democratic party can make as good a promise as you ever heard in your life. Their platform is copied from the Republican platform as near as they dare do it, and pointing to it, they tell you that they have promised to be good Union men.

Discounting a Note.

Smith and Jones go to a bank. Smith draws up a note, signs it, presents it to the cashier and gets it discounted. Jones does likewise, and offers it to the cashier. The latter declines to discount it. "Why," says Mr. Jones, "you just now discounted one exactly like it. Why not discount this one." "Because," responds the cashier, "Mr. Smith always pays his notes and you never did. He is a gentleman, and you are a scoundrel and a whelp." The value of the note, my hearers, is in the signature and not in the manner in which it is drawn up. A man has a good or bad character by what he has really done, by what he has really accomplished, and not by what he promises to do. If promises would make a good reputation, Samuel J. Tilden and the Democratic party would have one in twenty-four hours. I propose now to tell you, my friends, a little of the history of the Republican party, also a little of the history of the Democratic party, and in order to do so fairly we must find out about the condition of the country before the war. The Northern Democrats had a face of dough, and the South changed its idiotic features to suit itself. Slavery had possession of every department of the government, of Congress, and of the President in the person of a gentleman from Pennsylvania. Slavery tried to thrust itself over every free inch of country in the North. Before proceeding further, let me briefly rehearse the history of the Republican party.

The United States of America is a free country; it is the only free country upon this earth; it is the only republic that was ever established among men. We have read, we have heard, of republics of Greece, of Egypt, of Venice; we have heard of the free cities of Europe. There never was a republic of Venice; there never was a republic of Rome; there never was a republic of Athens; there never was a free city in Europe; there never was a government not cursed with caste; there never was a government not cursed with slavery; there never was a country not cursed with almost every infamy, until the Republican party of the United States made this a free country. (Great applause.) I want no grander title of nobility than just that I belong to the Republican party, and did a little toward helping it to power and magnificence. (Applause.) In order for you to ascertain what the Republican party has done for us, let us refresh ourselves a little; we all know it, but it is well enough to hear it now and then. Let us then refresh our recollection a little, in order to understand what the grand and great Republican party has accomplished in the land.

Record of the Republican Party.

We will consider, in the first place, the condition of the country when the Republican party was born. When the Republican party was born there was upon the statute books of the United States of America a law known as the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850, by which every man in the State of Pennsylvania was made by law a bloodhound, and could be set and hissed upon a negro, who was simply attempting to attain his birthright of freedom, just as you would set a dog upon a wolf. That was the Fugitive Slave Law of 1850. Around the neck of every man it put a collar as a dog, but it had not the decency to put the man's name on the collar [laughter]. I said in the State of Maine [cheers] and several other States, and expect to say it again, although I hurt the religious sentiment of the Democratic party, and shocked the piety of that organization by saying it—(great laughter)—but I did say there, and now say, that the Fugitive Slave law of 1850 would have dis-

quin, but a large proportion of the church in the North; so that ministers stood up in their pulpits and defended the very infamy that I have mentioned. Not only that, but the Presbyterians South, in 1863, met in General Synod and passed two resolutions. The first resolution read: "Resolved, That slavery is a divine institution; second, Resolved, That God raised up the Presbyterian Church, South, to protect and perpetuate that institution." Well, all I have to say is that, if God did this, He never chose a more infamous instrument to carry out a more diabolical object. (Applause.) What more had slavery done? At that time it had corrupted the very courts, so that in nearly every State in this Union if a Democrat had gone to the hut of a poor negro, and had shot down his wife and children before his very eyes, had strangled the little dimpled babe in the cradle, there was no court before which this negro could come to give testimony. He was not allowed to go before a magistrate and indict the murderer; he was not allowed to go before a grand jury and swear an indictment against the wretch. Justice was not only blind, but deaf; and that was the idea of justice in the South, when the Republican party was born. When the Republican party was born, the yelp of the bloodhound was the music of this Union; when this party was born, the dome of our Capitol at Washington cast its shadow upon slave-pens, in which crouched and shuddered women from whose breast their babes had been torn by wretches who are crying for honesty and reform. [Great cheers and applause.] When the Republican party was born, a bloodhound was considered as one of the instrumentalities of Republicanism. When the Republican party was born, the church had made the cross of Christ a whipping-post. When the Republican party was born, courts of the United States hadn't the slightest idea of justice, provided a black man was upon the other side. When this party came into existence, if a negro had a plot of ground and planted corn in it, and the rain had fallen upon it, and the dew had lain lovingly upon it, and the rays of light, shot from the exhaustless quiver of the sun, had quickened the blade and finally ripened it into the full ear—if then a Democrat had come along and shot him, the Courts of the United States did not know to whom the corn belonged. [Great applause.] We pretended at that time to be a free country; it was a lie. We pretended at that time to do justice in our courts; it was a lie. And above all our pretenses and hypocrisy rose the curse of slavery, like Chimborazo above the clouds.

There were some good men who loved freedom from principle, and when the doctrine was promulgated that this country could not exist half slave and half free were found on the side of freedom. The slaveholder loved liberty and boasted of his freedom because of the distinction it made between him and his slave. There are a few of those old time men who loved freedom from principle still living. There are some of them in this county; one of them is a candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, and if you can trust anybody you can trust one who favored freedom from principle.

The Democratic Party.

Let me tell you a few things that the Democratic party have done within the last 16 years. In the first place, they were not willing that this country should be saved unless slavery could be saved with it. There never was a Democrat, North or South—and by Democrats I mean the fellows that stuck to the party all during the war; the ones that stuck to the party after it was a disgrace; the ones that stuck to the party from simple, pure cussedness—there never was one that did not think more of the institution of slavery than he did of the Government of the United States; not one that I ever saw or read of. And so they said to us for all those years: "If you can save the Union with slavery, and without any help from us, we are willing you should do it; but we do not propose that this shall be an abolition war." So the Democratic party from the first said, "An effort to preserve this Union is unconstitutional," and they made a breastwork of the Constitution for rebels to get behind and shoot down loyal men; so that the first charge I lay at the feet of the Democratic party, the first charge I make in the indictment, is, that they thought more of slavery than of liberty and of this Union, and in my judgment they are in the same condition this moment. The next thing they did was to discourage enlistments in the North. They did all in their power to prevent any man's going into the army to assist in putting down the rebellion. And that grand reformer and statesman, Samuel J. Tilden, gave it as his opinion that the South could sue, and that every soldier who put his foot on sacred Virginia's soil would be a trespasser, and could be sued before a justice of the peace. The Democratic party met in their conventions in every State North and denounced the war as a "nigger war" and Abraham Lincoln as a tyrant. And let me say that all of the men on earth that have ever been clothed with absolute power Lincoln is the only man who used that power without abusing it except on the side of mercy. [Prolonged cheers.]

What more did they do? They went into partnership with the rebels—they did? [Laughter.] They said to the rebels just as plainly as though they had spoken it, "Hold on, hold out, hold hard, fight hard, until we get the political post of the North, and then you can go in peace."

The Democrats' War Record.

What more? A man by the name of Jacob Thompson—a nice man, and a good Democrat, who thinks that of all the men to reform the Government Samuel J. Tilden is the best man—Jacob Thompson had the misfortune to be a very vigorous Democrat, and I will show you what I mean by that. A Democrat during the war who had a musket—you understand, a musket—he was a rebel, and during the war a rebel that did not have a musket was a Democrat. [Laughter and applause.] I call Mr. Thompson a vigorous Democrat because he had a musket. Afterward he was sent by the Confederate Government as the rebel agent to Canada, and when he went there he took between $600,000 and $700,000 for the purpose of co-operating with the Northern Democracy. He got himself acquainted with and in connection with the Democratic party in Ohio, in Indiana, and in Illinois. The vigorous Democrats, the real Democrats, in those States had organized themselves under the head of Sons of Liberty, Knights of the Golden Circle, Order of the Star, and various other beautiful names, and their object was to release rebel prisioners from Camp Chase, Camp Douglass in Chicago, and from one camp in Indianapolis and another camp at Rock Island. Their object was to raise a fire in the rear, as they called it; in other words, to burn down the homes of Union soldiers while they were in the front fighting for the honor of their country. That was their object, and they put themselves in connection with Jacob Thompson. They were to have an uprising on the 16th of August, 1864. It was thought best to hold a few public meetings for the purpose of arousing the public mind. They held the first meeting in the city of Peoria, where I live. That was August 3, 1864. Here they came from every part of the State, and were addressed by the principal Democratic politicians in Illinois. To that meeting Fernando Wood addressed a letter, in which he said that although absent in body he should be present in spirit. George Pendleton, of Ohio, George Pugh, of the same State, Seymour of Connecticut, and various other Democratic gentlemen, sent acknowledgments and expressions of regret to this Democratic meeting, that met at this time for the purpose of organizing an uprising among the Democratic party. I saw that meeting and heard some of their speeches. They denounced the war as an abolition nigger war; they denounced Abraham Lincoln as a tyrant; they carried transparencies that said, "Is there money enough in the land to pay this nigger debt? Arouse, brothers, and hurl the tyrant Lincoln from the throne?" And the men that promulgated that very thing are running for the most important political offices in the country, on the ground of honesty and reform! They did all this and, yet afterward, I was astonished to learn that Jacob Thompson had furnished the money for that meeting. All those meetings were paid for by rebel gold, by Jacob Thompson. He has got on file the voucher from these Democratic gentlemen in favor of Tilden and Hendricks. The next meetings were held in Springfield and Indianapolis, the expenses of which were paid in the same way. The Democrats were as pious then as now. (Laughter.) They shipped to one town these weapons of our destruction in boxes labeled Sunday school books! (Great laughter.)

Attempt to Burn Cities.

Well, that same rebel agent, Jacob Thompson, hired a Democrat by the name of Churchill to burn the city of Cincinnati, and Thompson coolly remarked: "I don't think he has had much luck, as I have only heard of a few fires." In Indianapolis a man named Dodds was arrested—a sound Democrat—so sound that Government had to take him by the nape of the neck and put him in Fort Lafayette. The convention of Democrats then met in the city of Chicago, and declared the war a failure. There never was a more infamous lie on this earth than when the Democratic convention declared in 1864 that the war was a failure. It was but a few days afterward that the roar of Grant's cannon announced them a lie. Rise from your graves, Union soldiers, one and all, that fell in support of your country—rise from your graves, and lift your skeleton hands on high and swear that when the Democratic party resolved that the war for the preservation of your country was a failure, that the Democratic party was a vast aggregated liar. Well, we grew magnanimous, and let Dodds out of Fort Lafayette; and where do you suppose Dodds is now? He is in Wisconsin. What do you suppose Dodds is doing? Making speeches. Whom for?—whom for? Tilden and Hendricks—honesty and reform. This same Jacob Thompson, Democrat, hired men to burn down New York, and they did set fire in some twenty places, and they used Greek fire, as he said in his letter, and ingenuously adds: "I shall never hereafter advise the use of Greek fire." They knew that in the smoke and ruins would be found the charred remains of mothers and children and that the flames leaping like serpents would take the child from the mother's arms, and they were ready to do it to preserve the infamous institution of slavery; and the Democratic party never have objected to it from that day to this. They burned up steamboats at St. Louis and many men with them, and the hounds that did it are skulking in the woods of Missouri. While those things were going on, Democrats in the highest position said: "Not one cent to prosecute the war."

The States Rights Doctrine.

These Democrats believed in the great sovereignty of the States. That was the plea upon which they inaugurated the war. The South to-day believes as much now as ever in the right of secession. When we conquered the Rebellion, we made the rebellious States adopt certain constitutions as a preliminary to the resumption of their original status in the Union. Now, six of those States have since adopted new constitutions, in which they have left out the clause denying their right to secede!

Senator Beck, of Kentucky, in a letter lately to one of his constituents, said that this country is not a nation, but a confederacy. That is what the rebels said. He was asked if he had written such a letter, and if that was his belief. He replied that he had written the letter, and such was his opinion. When the vote was taken upon the Centennial appropriation, the Southern members who voted for it, said that they did so because it was a show of the world's goods. If it had been simply an exposition of the States, they said the Government would have no right to appropriate money for it without the consent of the sovereign States.

Protection of Citizens.

The Democrates tell us further that we have no right to protect a man in the South against the State in which he lives. A government that cannot protect its citizens, at home and abroad, ought to be swept from the map of the world. The Democrats tell you that they will protect any citizen if he is only away from home, but if he is in Louisiana or any other State in the Union, the Government is powerless to protect him. I say a government has a right to protect every citizen at home as well as abroad; [great applause] and the Government has a right to take its soldiers across the State line, to take its soldiers into any State for the purpose of protecting even one man. (Applause.) That is my doctrine with regard to the power of the Government. But here comes a Democrat to-day and tells me—but it is the old doctrine of secession in disguise—that the State of Louisiana must protect its own citizens, and that if it does not protect its own cittizens, the General Government has nothing to do unless the Government of that State asks assistance, no matter whether anarchy prevails or not. That is infamous. The United States has the right to draft you and me into the army and compel us to serve there, if its powers are being usurped. The Government has the power to compel you or me to bare our breasts, to lift our arms for its flag, and I say that the flag that will not protect its protectors is a dirty rag. (Great applause.) It contaminates the air in which it waves. It is the duty of this Government to see to it that every citizen has all his rights in every State in this Union, and to protect him in the enjoyment of those rights, peaceably if it can, forcibly if it must. (Applause.)

The Race Troubles.

Democrats tell us they treat the colored man very well. I have frequently read stories relating how two white men were passing along the road, when suddenly they were set upon by 10 or 12 negroes, who sought their lives; but in the fight which ensues, the 10 or 12 negroes are killed and not a white man hurt. I tell you it is infamous; and the Democratic press of the North laughs at it, and Mr. Samuel J. Tilden don't care. He knows that many of the Southern States are to be carried by assassination and murder, and he knows that if he is elected it will be by assassination and murder. (Applause.) It is infamous beyond the expression of language. Now I ask you what party will be the most likely to preserve the liberty of the negro—the party who fought for slavery, or the men who gave them freedom? These are the two great questions—the payment of the debt, and the protection of our citizens. My friends, we have got to pay the debt, as I told you, but it is of greater importance to make sacred American citizenship. (Prolonged applause.)

We must remember we are citizens of a nation. I know that we hear from Southern Democrats in these days that we are not a nation, but a confederacy. And Northern Democrats reiterate that too. It is a lie. I say, we are not a confederacy, but a nation. You may read all the messages to Congress from the earliest President down to Franklin Pierce's time and you will never find the country spoken of as a confederacy. It is always spoken of as a "nation" by the fathers.

We heard nothing of this country not being a nation until away down amid the ruins of Pierce's administration. But I want this country to be a nation, and the Republican party wants it to be a nation, and the people want it to be a nation. A big nation makes big people. We need a whole continent, a country washed by the waves of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Before and since the war the Democratic party said that the Union is simply a confederacy; but I want this country to be a nation. Think of exhausting ambition in a little State like Rhode Island! [Laughter.] I want to live in a great and splendid country.

A Sovereign State.

And a State is a great sovereign power, overshadowing this Government of ours! Let us look at an example; there is Colorado: This country bought it from Mexico, and paid for it. The deed is on file in Washington, just like the deed for a farm; the deed is on file in the city of Mexico, too. Every one will admit, even Democrats and Statesrights men will admit that Colorado belonged to the country, and we could do what we pleased with it. We could have made it a Democratic lunatic asylum—and perhaps we ought to have done so—or we could have made it an Indian reservation, which would amount to about the same thing. Instead of doing so, on the 12th day of July, Colorado was admitted to the Union as a State. And now it is a Sovereign State, and the great United States, which only a short time ago could have disposed of it in any way it pleased, now becomes only an agent of the Sovereign Colorado, and cannot cross its borders without her consent! (Laughter and applause.) And that is a sample of State sovereignty. If such opinions had been held by Republicans we would have had no country to-day. The Republican party struck the shackles from four million people, put the ballot in their hands and it is going to protect them.

But, by the way, my friends, if I say anything bad about Democrats remember I speak of those of Indiana and Illinois, with whom I am acquainted; the Democrats of Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania may be very good sort of mortals for all I know. [Laughter.]

"Free to All."

The speaker next proceeded to ridicule the fear which the Democrats had of the "nigger," and said it was because they feared the colored man, if given a fair chance, might pass them in the race of life. He believed in giving all a fair field and open race. Said he:

Suppose we go out to see a race. It is a beautiful day. There is a splendid track. It is free to all horses, mules and "donks" of every kind. [Laughter.] There is a great crowd. The horses get into line, and with the first tap of the drum away they go. See that blooded horse far in advance of the field. See his thin nostrils vibrate with excitement. His viens stand out distinct, as though he had been covered with a vail all nerves. He has the sleek limbs, high withers and delicately tapered neck of a racer. His eyes glow like the stars, and his long mane floats in the breeze like a banner of victory. Think you he cares how many horses are entered for the race? [Applause.]

Now look at the scrub. He is behind, he lifts his feet and dives down into the earth. He labors, groans and sweats. The others press upon him, and when he feels the hot breath of the on-coming mule upon his flank, (laughter) he feels the injustice done him, and draws off, and raises a howl about donkey equality. (Great laughter.) The blooded horse is the Republican party. (Great applause.)

The Financial Question.

But now I am going to say something about finance. I always hate to touch that question, because, as a general thing, a man becomes very dull when he does. You know nearly every man thinks he understands it, and listens very impatiently to any opinions advanced by others. But still I will risk being dull, and tell you what I think. We owe a large debt. Two-thirds of that debt was incurred in consequence of the action and the meanness of the Democrats. There are some people who think that you can defer the payment of a promise so long that the postponement of the debt will serve in lieu of its liquidation—that you pay your debts by putting off your creditor. [Laughter.] Some people have an idea that the Government can pay its debts when it substitutes one piece of paper for another—that our Government can make money by stamping its sovereignity on a piece of paper. But this is not the case. The Government is a perpetual pauper. It passes round the hat and solicits contributions; but then you must remember that the Government has a bayonet behind the hat. The Government produces nothing. It does not plow the land, it does not sow corn, it does not grow trees. The Government is a perpetual consumer. The people have to support the Government; the Government cannot support the people. To suppose that they can issue money to the people is as absurd as to suppose that my hired man can issue certificates of my indebtedness to him for me to live on. (Laughter.) The Government has no money but what it received from the people. It had therefore to borrow money to carry on the war. Every greenback that it issued was

A Forced Loan.

My notes are not a legal tender, though if I had the power I might possibly make them so. [Laughter.] We borrow money and we have to pay the debt. That debt represents the expenses of war. The horses and the gunpowder and the rifles and the artillery—are represented in that debt—it represents all the munitions of war. Until we pay that debt we can never be a solvent nation. Until our net profits amount to as much as we lost during the war we can never be a solvent people. If a man cannot understand that there is no use in talking to him on the subject. The alchemists in old times who fancied that they could make gold out of nothing were not more absurd than the American advocates of soft money. They resemble the early explorers of our continent who lost years in searching for the fountain of eternal youth, but the ear of age never caught the gurgle of that spring. We all have heard of men who spent years of labor in endeavoring to produce perpetual motion. They produced machines of the most ingenious character, with cogs and wheels and pulleys without number, but these ingenious machines had one fault, they would not go. You will never find a way to make money out of nothing. It is as great nonsense as the fountain of perpetual youth. You cannot do it.

The Debt to be Paid.

Gold is the best material which labor has yet found as a measure of value. That measure of value must be as valuable as the object it measures. I saw the sovereignty of Rome impressed on a piece of Cæsar's coin. Cæsar died as long ago as the Democratic party ought to have died, but the coin was intrinsically valuable though the sovereignty it represented had disappeared from the face of the earth. The sovereignty of a country is to be got in a different way. It has to be raised. It has to represent labor. The value of gold arises from the amount of labor expended in producing it. A gold dollar will buy as much labor as produced that dollar. I tell you another thing. This debt has to be paid. We ought to make the Democrats pay it for they lost the case and should pay the costs. [Loud cheers and laughter.] There is a mortgage on the continent—on the land of the country, on the honor of the Republican party, and that mortgage must be paid. [Loud and prolonged cheers.] Every blade of grass is a guarantee that it will be paid, every field of corn, every bannered hill that rises in the length and breadth of this Republic is a guarantee that it will be paid—every penny of it. [Loud cheers.] All the minerals of the country are a guarantee that it will be paid. All the coal that was hoarded in the bowels of the earth millions of years ago by that old miser, the Sun, is a guarantee for the liquidation of this debt. So is every ounce of silver and gold slumbering in the strata of this continent—waiting to be excavated—waiting to give back to the Sun, the flash which it received from his radiance.

Every Good Man

and woman—every babe in the cradle, and every boy in the country that is going to vote the Republican ticket is a guarantee that the national debt will be paid. (Long and prolonged cheers.) Now the question is, Who is most apt to pay that debt? Those who swore it was consititutional, or those who swore it was unconstitutional? Every time a Democrat sees a greenback, it says to him, "I vanquished you." (Applause.) Every time a Republican sees a greenback, it says, "You and I put the rebellion down." (Cheers.)

This great debt of ours was contracted by the war brought on by the Democrats, and now with consummate effrontery they throw that debt up to us and try to make capital out of it. They talk about the depressed condition of the country. Who made it so? Let every one of you workingmen, when you have blistered your hands to pay the debt, take off the blister and under it you will find a Democratic lie. There never has been a more prosperous city in the country than Pittsburgh; but if Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania vote to put the Democratic party in power, her thousands of towering chimneys will stand smokeless monuments to her folly.

Tilden's Folly.

Now, gentleman, to pass from the financial part of this; and I say one word before I do it. I will say that if any man came to you and wanted the date taken from a note, you would say that he was dishonest; and any man who wants the date stricken from this pledge of the Government is dishonest. [Applause.] Mr. Tilden wanted the date left out so that Hendricks could crawl in. [Applause.] No; the Republican party intends to pay its debts in coin on the 1st of January, 1879. Paper money means probably the payment of the Confederate debt; a metallic currency the discharge of honest obligations. We have touched hard-pan prices in this country, and we want to do a hard-pan business with hard money. You cannot jump when you are in the air. You need a solid footing before you can stand firm, and that is what we have reached financially. If the Republican party fails to resume on the date fixed, it will fail nobly, fighting like the soldier on the ramparts with the banner in his hands. [Great applause.] Why my friends, if you can think of any mean thing that could be done, I will find you a Democrat to do it. I do not say that all Democrats are dishonest, but I do say that their principles are dishonest, and that a majority of the party are dishonest.

The Parties Contrasted.

Not long ago I was passing along a road, where there was a sign post which had stood there for years until it had become weather-beaten and decayed. It pointed to nowhere, and was a useless, worn out relic of by-gone days. I thought to myself when I saw it, that is like the Democratic party. Again, in another place I saw the ruins of an old inn; the building was burned down, and only the two tall old-fashioned chimneys at either end of the building still stood erect. Up in front of the tavern the old sign still swung and creaked, and spoke to the public of "Entertainment for Man and Beast." And again, I thought this is like the Democratic party, so prolific of promises and so unable to fulfill them. And the two chimneys reminded me of Tilden and Hendricks, trying by their prominence and sophistry to blind the eyes of the people to the ruin about them.

Not long ago I was in Paris, and there I saw on a monument where all the people could see it, a statue of the Goddess of Liberty, an enduring figure of bronze that will last while the ages endure. In one hand was the star of progress, and the other pointed upward, to the pure blue and free zenith; and this I thought, is like the Republican party, in its enduring being and elevated principles. (Applause.)

is made up of the worst elements of society. There is not a penitentiary in the United States that Tilden and Hendricks cannot carry five to one. In the Democratic Party can be found the vicious and foul. The man who can answer an argument with blows, he is the Democratic party. All men who sympathized with the South in its efforts to destroy this Government are now in the Democratic party; all the men who shot our soldiers at the dead-mark are now for honesty and reform, and if Tilden should be elected President of the United States all these men would be found shouting for Tilden and Hendricks. Now, my friends, keep out of the Democratic party; do not vote that ticket, any young man who is going to cast his first vote—do not place your future in the hands of that party.

The Republican Party

on the other hand, is the party of reason, of progression and education. The Republican party is the one that believes in the equality of human rights. I believe it. I am willing to give to every human being every right that I claim for myself. Every man who won't do that is a rascal. My friends, I believe the world is going to get better. I do. I believe we are getting better all the time. Samuel J. Tilden says we are a nation of thieves and robbers. I don't believe it. If we were he ought to be President. I believe we are getting better, and every day the Republican party is in power we will be getting better. And by free labor and free thought. Free labor will give us wealth. Free thought will give us truth. Free labor has done everything that has been done in the United States, because the problem of free labor is to do the most work in the least time, and slave labor is to do the least work in the most time. The political principles of the Republican party are as broad as this continent—as extensive as humanity itself. They welcome every one to this country who is a friend of humanity and of human progress. We believe it is right to allow every man to do his own thinking, and to express his own thoughts. We will suffer no fetter on the brain, no chain on the hand of man. [Renewed applause.]

Every Loyal Man,

if he be white or black, must be protected. In the days of slavery in the South the whipping post and instruments of torture, compeled obedience from the slaves. To-day they know and act upon the principle that if you can't convince a man you can knock him down. If a man won't vote as they want him to they know that the knife can make one voter less; that one gun can do more toward converting a man than twenty churches. The Republican party has sworn to protect every man in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and it intends to do it. The worst ward in the city of Pittsburgh is the one that will give the biggest Democratic majority. Why, out of 140 voters in the State prison of Maine, 139 are for Tilden and Hendricks. And that is the party of Reform! [Laughter and applause.] The best recipe that I can give you to keep out of the Penitentiary is to vote the Republican ticket. (Applause.) The Democrats object to having a standing army of twenty-five thousand men for thirty-eight States, and yet it takes twenty-five hundred policemen for the city of New York to keep the Democratic friends from picking your pocket on the way from the depot to your hotel.

The Candidates.

But now let me speak of the candidates of these two parties. The Democratic party have put forward Mr. Samuel J. Tilden. Mr. Tilden is a Democrat who belongs to the Democratic party of the city of New York, and the Democratic party of the city of New York never had but two objects—grand and petit larceny. [Laughter and applause.] In Illinois, we have always heard that Tammany Hall bears the same relation to a penitentiary that a Sunday School does to a church. [Laughter.] I don't say it is so, but simply state it as I hear it there. I have heard that the Democratic party got control of New York when it did not owe a dollar, and have stolen and stolen until it owes $160,000,000; and I understand that every election they have had was a fraud—every one. I understand that they stole everything they could lay their hands on. And, oh, what hands! (Laughter and applause.) Grasped and grasped and clutched, until they stole all it was possible for the people to pay the interest upon, and now they are all yelling for honesty and reform. I understand that Mr. Tilden was a pupil in that school, and that he is now a teacher in that school. (Laughter.)

Hayes' Record.

On the other side another man has been nominated—Rutherford B. Hayes. In the first place, he is an honest man. You Democrats will say that is not much, but I ask you to try it once. Rutherford B. Hayes is a patriotic man, and when the war commenced Rutherford B. Hayes said, "I would rather go into this war and be killed in the course of it than live through it, and have taken no part in it." [Applause.] Compare that with Mr. Tilden's refusal to sign the call for the Union meeting in New York. All the Democratic snakes, with their forked and poisonous tongue stuck out, have not found in the reputation of Gov. Hayes a crevice in which to deposit the poison of their malignity. Imagine a man so pure that the Democratic party cannot lie about him! [Great laughter.] I would also say William A. Wheeler is also a staunch Republican as ever there was in the party. [Applause.] There is no one a greater advocate of reform than he. [Applause.] Governor Hayes already has three Democratic scalps in his belt, Pendleton Thurman, and rise up Wm. Allen, and in November he will have another; that of Samuel J. Tilden. [Great Applause.]

[The speaker then gave a glowing exhortation to the people to vote for the Republican party, and arraigned the Democratic party in the most eloquent, burning words ever listened to by a Pittsburgh audience.]

But let me ask you if you have heard from Maine? [Applause.] And from Vermont? [Applause again.] You have heard then? Well where is all that "tidal wave," that "undertow" that "sober second thought"—and when did a Democrat ever have a sober thought? We don't hear so much from them as we did. And let me remind you that in Maine James G. Blaine, that knight-errant of chivalry, that true knight who clutched the Confederate Congress by the throat and held them until their foreheads became as black as their records and until their tongues spoke out like flags of truce—(tremendous and long continued applause)—after having failed to get the nomination at Cincinnati, did not desert his party, but went to work in Maine with a will, the effects of which you saw in the returns. (Cheers for Blaine again.)

The speaker then desired to stop, but the crowd would not hear of it, and he continued for several minutes longer, and concluded by referring to Hendricks. In response to a question by some one in the crowd, the speaker said he was not in the habit of paying attention to trifles, which was the reason he had not mentioned Mr. Hendricks. He said Hendricks was a good man, but was in bad company, and his principles were bad. Bidding the audience good night, he then took his seat amid the wildest cheering.

The meeting immediately after adjourned.

SECOND EDITION

NEWS FROM ABROAD.

The Sultan of Turkey Submits Terms of Peace.

GLADSTONE ON THE EASTERN QUESTION.

TURKEY.

The Terms Upon Which the Porte Will Accept Peace.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 15.—The Porte has informed the Ambassadors of the powers that it is impossible to grant an armistice, but is prepared to accept peace based on the following points:

First. The reoccupation of the fortress held by Turkey previous to 1857. Second. The destruction of the fortresses constructed by the Servians since 1857. Third. The investiture of Prince Milan at Constantinople. Fourth. The reduction of the effective Servian army to ten thousand men and three batteries. Fifth. The construction of a railway across Servia.

A sixth point follows, which is unintelligible in the telegram. The Porte insists chiefly upon the necessity of the occupation of the principal Servian fortresses so as to prevent fresh aggression, and leaves the negotiation of a treaty on the above basis entirely in the hands of the powers.

LONDON, September 16.—The Times, in an article on Turkey's basis of peace, declares Europe cannot permit Turkey to occupy the Servian fortresses which she held until 1857. The European powers will be the best judges as to the military force Prince Milan should maintain after they complete their plans. For the sake of peace the Porte should waive the empty form of Prince Milan doing homage to the Sultan. The only safe condition of those proposed by Turkey is the construction of a railway across Servia.

A special from Vienna asserts that Germany will not move in aid of Russia's demands on Turkey, and in the event of war will remain absolutely neautral.

A Sensational Rumor.

A correspondent at Paris relates that a sensation was caused in that city by the publication last evening in the Journal La France of the text of an alleged treaty signed by Bismarck and Gortschakoff, purporting to have been made last June, and providing for the settlement of the Eastern question in case of war. The whole thing is absurd, but it caused much excitement and obtained credence in certain circles.

Fighting on Tuesday.

LONDON, September 16.—A dispatch from Belgrade says the Turks made an attack on Tuesday on Mali Zwornik to prevent the Servians from sending reinforcements to Gen. Tchernayeff, but fighting on the Drina cannot influence the issue of the war at Alexinatz.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Gladstone on the Eastern Question.

LONDON, September 16.—The Times publishes a letter from Gladstone, dealing with the recent speeches of Lord Derby on the Eastern question. Gladstone finds fault with the Government for merely protesting and remonstrating, and concludes with this declaration: "The time has come to say you must let Europe define what is just, and then exact it." The writer expresses the belief that circumstances now demand the early assembling of Parliament.

GERMANY.

Spain's Persecution of Protestants.

BERLIN, September 15.—The intolerant measures of the Spanish Government against Protestants are stated to have given use to a frequent exchange of notes between the British and German Governments. It is understood they will address remonstrances to Spain, and call upon her to act in conformity with her engagements.

THE FIELD OF POLITICS.

The Maine Election.

PORTLAND, ME., Sepetmber 15.—The Legislature will stand: House, 120 Republicans and 31 Democrats; Senate, 29 Republicans and 2 Democrats. The Republicans gain thirty-one in the House and nine in the Senate.

South Carolina Republican State Ticket.

COLUMBIA, S. C., September 15.—The Republican State Convention has renominated the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Comptroller General of the Treasury and Secretary of State. R. B. Elliott, colored, has been nominated for Attorney General.

Minor Notes.

ELGIN, ILLS., September 15.—The Greenback Convention of the Fourth District yesterday nominated Rev. W. S. Balch, a Universalist, for Congress, but he declined the honor.

ATLANTA, September 15.—All the Democratic Congressmen from Georgia have been renominated.

TOLEDO, September 15.—The Greenback Convention of the Sixth Congressional district was held in this city to-day. E. B. Hall, of Lucas county, was nominated for Congress, and Gilman Cheadle, of Fulton county, for Presidential elector.

LITTLE ROCK, September 15.—Hon. H. B. Stuart was nominated for Congress by the Democratic Congressional convention of the Third district. A portion of the convention withdrew and nominated Hon. Jordan C. Cravens.

The Greenbackers met in mass convention and nominated an electoral ticket for the State.

SELMA, ALA., September 15.—Jas. T. Rapier, colored, formerly Congressman, was nominated to-day by the Republican Congressional convention of the Fourteenth district. Some of the delegates bolted and nominated Jere Haralson, colored, present member of Congress.

FREEPORT, ILLS., September 15.—H. C. Burchard was renominated by acclamation this afternoon for Congress by the Republicans of this Congressional District.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1876.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 52½f.

BONDS at Frankfort, new 5s, 103.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 110.

GOVERNOR HAYES very promptly meets the question of income tax returns by proposing that all his returns shall be inspected. He acts with the openness of a man who, having always acted honestly, has no fear. His record may be investigated, but it will be found all right.

THE faith manifested by Mr. TILDEN in the American people is extremely touching. He imagines that they will believe his cock and bull story, about loaning the money he did not return to his brothers, and losing it. Such a story at least confirms the fact of his receiving the large income charged. Whether money once received, and speculatively invested and lost, is to be counted as not received, is a question to which there can be but one answer. When money has been earned, but has not been received, as yet, it makes a very different case; but when received and reinvested, the receipt must certainly be acknowledged. Rather a thin story, his. And how about the years when he made no returns?

THE latest phase of news is, that the Khedive of Egypt is sending troops to Massowah to continue the Abyssinian war. Just what encouragement he has to continue his efforts are not known, but his course indicates that he has confidence in his ultimate success, as against the Abyssinians. His motives in this war are chiefly ambitious, his desire being to acquire a large portion of Central Africa, and add it to his territory. It is not a little curious that he should make war with the Abyssinians, to this end, his most natural course aparently being to extend his governmental control up the White Nile, by way of Khartoun. The late discoveries of Colonel GORDON, by which it is ascertained that the White Nile connects with the Lake Albert Nyanza, illustrate how easily he can capture all Central Africa, and bring it under his dominion. From established posts, so near to Abyssinia, the war could be effectually carried on, were it desirable to do so. But the development of Central Africa will fully tax all the resources of the Khedive of Egypt, without troubling himself about the capture of Abyssinia for a time. Thus Africa may be settled and civilized, and another of the great problems of the world disposed of.

HOW wonderful, pliable and convenient is that venerable instrument, the Constitution of the United States. It does not matter what the Democracy may want, whether it be to supppress the colored people of the South, to murder white Republicans, or aught else we always learn that it is unconstitutional to prevent them just now, we hear the Democratic speakers shrieking about the violation of the Constitution by the Government in sending troops into the South to defend the freedmen. They had no complaint to make against the South for attempting to destroy both the Union and the Constitution. No one ever heard them remonstrate with the assassins who butchered colored people in the South. As long as the Constitution and laws are violated in behalf of the ex-slave drivers they have no fault to find, but if efforts are made to prevent this lawlessness and to protect the weak, oppressed freedmen, their indignation knows no bounds. But these are the same men who howled against LINCOLN, SEWARD, STANTON and all the supporters of the Union, and the people know their hypocritical whine. Were they the embodiment of the Constution, they could not interpret it more literally in their own interest. We have yet to learn, however, that the Constitution was made for the Democratic party.

COL. INGERSOLL'S SPEECH.

The prevailing curiosity to hear the Western orator who so aptly and brilliantly presented Mr. BLAINE to the Cincinnati Convention, drew together a large audience last evening. There was no mistaking the enthusiasm of his reception, which served to enkindle a responsive enthusiasm in his breast at once. Of his speech, as to its contents, we do not need here to speak, as it is reported elsewhere. His manner is calm at the outset, and yet earnest. A good voice and appropriate gestures give emphasis to his utterances, and the strong, clear sense that runs through all his thoughts fixes conviction in the minds of his hearers. In all the impulsiveness which at times pervade his address, there was no less of verbal beauty. In clear, beautiful, concise expression, he stands pre-eminent, and in the magnetism that controls large audiences, he is unrivaled. As a political orator, he is positive, aggressive, and convincing. He does not deal in mere denunciation, though he is at times terribly denunciatory. He evidently realizes that it is the first necessity in political oratory to convince the judgment, and to make a strong case upon which to rest his appeals and denunciations. This he carefully does, and his facts, statistics and arguments are unanswerable. He does not conceal that he has a very moderate opinion of TILDEN, and his dissections of that gentleman are very amusing.

His ability to hold the attention of an audience was well illustrated last evening. Audiences at a political gathering are proverbially restless, owing, usually, to the difficulty of hearing, and the discomfort of long standing. But his clear, good voice, logical, condensed arguments, telling anecdotes, and beautiful flights of oratory, held the unflagging attention of the audience through his entire speech. As the human voice, when backed by personal magnetism, is one of the most potent agencies known for convincing the mind, we assume that the address last evening will be particularly influential for good. There are few persons who can so clearly and strongly imbibe, through reading, any particular line of thought, as they can where it is vividly presented by the living voice. Colonel INGERSOLL has all that power of vivid presentation which is so desirable in presenting truth to the human mind. We regard his address as one of the most vigorous efforts that are certain to be attended by lasting results. It would be well if he could be secured for speeches at various prominent points in this State.

His manner of presenting his argument is cogent and clear. In the broad discussion he gives to the questions at issue in the pending canvass, he starts out with a clear statement of the origin, spirit and purposes of the Republican party. This was, to be just, and lift from the enslaved, the bonds and burthens that oppressed them. His picture of the appalling condition to which the Democratic party has reduced the blacks was fearful. And, indeed, it had degraded the whites no less. He pictured a woman, nine-tenths white, with a suffering babe, who, fleeing from slavery, had come to within a foot of freedom; but, being met by a white person, is thrust back again into the hopeless misery of slavery. This was what the Democratic party reduced both black and white to. His scathing portrayal of the leading lights of the Democratic party, and their sudden conversion to honesty and reform, was something artistic. TILDEN, squeaking out a response to BUCHANAN's feeble talk against coercion; JAKE THOMPSON's mission to disseminate small pox and death among Northern cities. These and others were strongly portrayed.

The plea of some Democratic papers that Mr. INGERSOLL opposed the Resumption act is utterly at variance with his declarations. He is indeed a strong resumptionist, if that includes first of all, the honest payment of the national debt. In this, he puts the case very plainly. He claims that the debt chiefly represents the losses of the war, and that in strict justice it should be paid by the Democracy, who brought on the war; but that Republicans will share the burden, and that the Republican party is determined the debt shall be paid. This done, and we are solvent. This is just our doctrine, and simply means specie payments through solvency. His criticisms on TILDEN's financial views were in the same vein. He claimed that if the best way to fix notes was to have no time mentioned for the payment, then the best way to arrange for the payment of the national debt was to do the same thing.

The contrast between HAYES and TILDEN was exceedingly effective. The same was true of the contrast between the Republican and Democratic parties. There were passages of great beauty in his speech, a current of strong common sense, and an ever present humor that served to keep the audience in an agreeable frame of mind while listening. Force is the chief characteristic of his speech, but aside from this was the strength of thought, clearness of presentation, and the undoubted magnetism of true oratory. He will be remembered long for his clear and convincing presentation of the truth. And this not from the novelty of idea so much as the intense clearness with which every thought was presented. Colonel INGERSOLL has suddenly attained the front rank among the orators of the nation, and will be so recognized in the years to come.

LADIES AT POLITICAL MEETINGS.

Now that elections are held in November, and the chief part of the canvass takes place so late in the fall as to require indoor speaking, we offer a suggestion that we deem of no small importance. It is that provision shall be made for the attendance of ladies at political meetings. Let proper seating accommodations be provided for them to comfortably listen to the speeches made. They read, think, and converse on political questions, and are interested that the Government shall be rightly conducted. They exert influence upon their friends, and in many instances, control votes. More than this, their presence at public meetings would exert a refining influence,—restraining speakers from a certain broadness often indulged in, and that leads, at times, to boisterous coarseness. The intelligent class of ladies form the best listeners at such meetings, and their influence is in every way desirable and good.

At the East the custom has existed, for several years, of admitting ladies to such gatherings, and they invariably entered into the spirit of the occasion with great earnestness and zest. They appreciate, very keenly and quickly, every good thought or idea advanced, and fully enjoy all the inspiration of party spirit that may be aroused. Add to all this, their influence over the children, growing up to be voters, is far greater than that of the father, and we have an additional reason for urging their presence at public meetings. No part of our population is more interested in all that pertains to government, than are they. Our laws, our general features of government, the growth and advancement of right principles, and all else that concerns the welfare of the nation is of equal importance to them as to the male portion of our population. Thus every consideration of propriety urges that ladies be invited to attend our political meetings. We hope, as the Presidential campaign progresses, arrangements will be made for the attendance of ladies, and that our meetings, in country localities, especially, will be made general neighborhood affairs. The effect of this course will be to inspire a deeper interest in political affairs than is customary, and inspire a higher ideal of political discussion than has been prevalent. We do not mean to say that Republican speakers are not gentlemany and careful. They are, as a rule. But we all comprehend the value of restraint and its influence on speakers and meetings. All else aside, and the enthusiasm of the ladies, is worth securing.

THE TWO GREAT RIVALS.

Some of Their Peculiarities of Manner.

A Long Branch correspondent thus sketches two celebrated men:

Two of the most notable men here this season have been Col. Thos. A. Scott, of the Pennsylvania railway, and Jay Gould, the little magician of Wall street, who carried off the Erie road in his pocket, and left it there until he made nine or ten millions by it. Both of them are very quiet, taciturn, self-possessed; both of them have masterly commercial ability; both of them have unbounded ambition and an unappeasable passion for huge operations. They have been rivals for some time, and it is not quite certain yet which of the two is the stronger, though the probabilities seem to be on the side of Gould.

They look very unlike.

Scott is blonde; has an open, pleasant, very intelligent face, a clear, blue-gray eye, side whiskers, and abundant hair, tinged with silver. He might pass for an orthodox clergyman. He moves about softly, and apparently with unconcern; yet you can see he is thinking hard, and arranging for the future.

Gould is a little fellow, a decided brunette, his mouth, chin and cheeks covered with black hair, and his black eyes bright, reflective, inscrutable. There is something cat-like in his gait; his expression is calm, and so cold that if your breath were to fall on his visage it might turn to vapor. Put a red suit him, and place him on the stage, and you would swear he was chosen by Nature for the part of Lucifer. He must have immense self-control, gigantic power of combination, a wonderful brain; for no one ever knows what he is doing, or intends to do, though he has the capacity to derange the finances of the country—as he has done ere now—and would not hesitate to render the country bankrupt, if its bankruptcy would inure to his advantage.

He and Scott have been grappling for mastery in the South and West, and there are reasons for believing that Gould has designs on the Pennsylvania Railway, which a little time will develop. I have seen them pass one another. They bow politely and speak softly, but neither stop. Each seems to fear that the other might read his mind, pluck out the heart of his financial mystery. Plainly there is no love between them; plainly each is gathering strength for the next tussle, and taking a long breath before they grapple again.

Gould looks as if he thought, "Scott is mighty smooth and smart, but you never can trust him."

Scott looks as if he were saying inwardly, "Gould is quiet as the grave, as sharp as lightning, but he's an infernal scoundrel."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, September 16, 1876.

A clearer, better day, yesterday, exerted its natural influence on business, and the effect was seen at the banks, in more general activity, so far as current business was concerned. The indicated revival of trade does not manifest itself in applications for loans, in any considerable amount, at the banks, but arrangements are usually made with private parties. The banks of this city have been obliged to carry a considerable amount of iron paper, and cannot readily increase their line in that direction, owing to the dead character of this kind of paper. But despite all this, there is a general readiness to take well sustained paper, that can be handled in safety. We regard the movement for more active business operations, made irrespective of bank loans, one of the healthiest signs of the times.

The real estate market shows some signs of life.

NEW YORK, September 15, 1876.

Money closed easy at 1½@2; prime mercantile paper 4@6. The customs receipts were $485,000. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $42,000. The clearings were $23,000,000. Sterling was weak at 482½@483. Gold opened at 110⅛ and closed at 110. The borrowing rates were 1 to 2. Loans were also made flat, and at 1 for carrying. Governments were strong. Railroad bonds were firm and in good demand. State securities were quiet. On the Stock Exchange there was a perfect flood of rumors about New Jersey Central, none of which, however, could be verified; but the result was a break of 5 per cent. in this stock, and a decline in the shares of the other coal roads. New Jersey Central declined to 21, Delaware & Hudson Canal to 67, and Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to 76¼. In the general market there was a decline of ⅛ to 2 per cent., the latter Michigan Central. Pacific Mail and Erie were strong. There was an improved tone to speculation in late dealings, and prices advanced ¼ to 4 per cent. from the lowest point of the morning. The chief activity was in coal shares, the western roads and Western Union. New Jersey Central advanced to 22⅝, Delaware, Lackawana & Western to 77⅛, Delaware & Hudson Canal to 71 regular and 74 under the rule. Morris & Essex to 90. Lake Shore to 53⅛, Michigan Central to 39⅝, Western Union to 71⅜, St. Paul common to 32, preferred to 66⅛, Ohios to 11⅛, Wabash to 3½, and Pacific Mail to 23. New York Central was an exception to the general market, and declined to 104⅛, closing at 104⅜@104½. Pittsburgh declined to 90⅛. Erie closed at 10⅛, after selling at 10@10⅜. The Northwest shares closed steady, and St. Paul shares at a light recovery. At the final close the market was irregular, but in the main firm. Western Union particularly so. Lake Shore was active and well sustained, closing firm. The decline in New York Central was caused by the report that Commodore Vanderbilt was sinking fast. The transactions aggregated 182,000 shares, of which 6,000 were Pacific Mail, 18,000 Western Union, 8,000 St. Paul, 11,000 Erie, 34,000 Lake Shore, 19,000 Michigan Central, 26,000 New Jersey Central, 10,000 Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, and 3,000 Delaware & Hudson Canal.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 15, 1876.

There is a continued fair degree of activity in general business, but the leading articles of merchandise present no new features deserving of special notice.

APPLES—We continue to quote in a jobbing way at $1a1,50 ⅌ bbl for fair to choice.

BEANS—The supply of old, although not large, is considerably in excess of present wants, which are exceedingly small; prices nominal at 90ca$1 ⅌ bushel.

BROOM CORN—Sales of Hurl Corn in small lots, upon arrival, at prices ranging from 7a8½c, as to quality. Short or medium brush in fair stock and demand light; sales in a small way at 5½a6½c, as to quality and quantity. Insiding and inferior Corn very dull. Some lots offered at 4½—find no sale. Crooked in light demand at 3a3½c.

BUTTER—Sales of prime to choice solid packed quotable at 20a23c; do roll, 24a25, creamery, 30a 32.

CHEESE—The market is firm at the recent advance; prime Ohio Factory, 10½a11c to the wholesale trade, and 11½a12 in a jobbing way.

EGGS—Coming forward more freely, and prices were weaker to-day; we are cognizant of sales at 18, although some dealers still quote at 19a20.

FLOUR—There is a continued steady demand for good standard brands, and the market is firmer, although there has been no advance here as yet. The outlook at present is decidedly upward in sympathy with wheat, which has advanced materially in the west, particularly at Chicago, within the past few days.

GROCERIES—We can report a very fair demand for all the leading articles, but there has been no recent change in prices.

GRAIN—The market for Wheat is firmer in tone in sympathy with the advance at other points, but as yet there has been no advance here; local millers will not pay any more as long as they can help it. No 1 red winter (Penna and Ohio) quotable at $1,12a1,15; No. 1 amber, $1,16a1,18. Kentucky white, $1,20a1,25. The Oat market continues firm, with a supply unequal to the demand and prices still have an upward tendency; quoted on track, at 34a35c for mixed, and 36a37 for white. The supply of Corn in this market is also light, but there is not much inquiry and prices have undergone no recent change; Ear on track, 50a53; Shelled, 52a55, the outside figure for prime Yellow. Rye unchanged at 63a65c.

HAY—Firmer, owing to light receipts from the adjoining country, caused by bad roads; quotable at $10a15, from country wagons.

MILL FEED—Bran scarce and higher, $12a12,50 ⅌ ton, on track. Middlings quoted at $19a21, and Shorts at $14a16.

ONIONS—Reds, $1,50a2 per bbl; prime silver skins, $2,25a2,50.

OILS—Lard oil higher, and winter make wanted. We quote winter extra, 95; current make, 85; No. 1, 78; No. 2, 60a65. Miners' oil higher at all points; and Jno. V. Lewis & Co.'s brands of White and Yellow Winter will likely command more than the figures we give to-day, but as our market is yet unchanged we continue to quote White, 60; Yellow, 57. The market points up, New York having advanced 3c ⅌ gallon for winter Yellow. Carbon firm at 23a24c. Linseed raw, 53; boiled, 58.

POTATOES—Irish quoted at 65a70 per bu. Sweets, $3,75a4,50 per bbl, the outside figure for Jerseys.

PROVISIONS—The market continues offish in tone, but, with the exception of a slight reduction on Sugar-cured Hams, prices remain unchanged. Our Chicago and Cincinnati dispatches of yesterday, reported both those markets lower.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 15, 1876.

The market for Crude was irregular and weaker to-day. United certificates opened at $3,88¾ and declined to $3,80a3,81½; immediate shipment was quoted at $3,95a4. It is said that there has been an increased demand for shipment recently, and that a bear movement is being made on certificates in order to weaken the market for the former. Refined was steady but quiet and unchanged; Philadelphia delivery, 28c bid with but few sellers at that figure; 22a22½c bid on cars here to go east. Prices to home trade unchanged at 23c.

The Barrel market is unchanged; countries, $1,30; city make, $1,45a1,50.

New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, September 15.—Flour dull; superfine $3,50; double extra $3,75a4; treble $4,20a6.10. Corn steady at 51@53c. Coffee steady; ordinary to prime 15[illegible]. Sugar steady; fair to fully fair 10½c; pri[illegible]

THE IRON TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, September 15, 1876.

Pittsburgh.

PIG IRON—There has been little or no change in the general position of the market during the past week; we can report an increasing demand, and while the inquiry is chiefly for small lots, there is a very fair business in the aggregate. It is estimated that the consumption here is about 1,000 tons per day when all the mills are in operation, and there is reason to believe that it is not much short of an average now, as there are more mills running than has been for several months, some of them working up to their full capacity. With an increasing consumption, diminishing stock, and a light production, the market, as might be expected, is firmer in tone, and, good mill irons, in particular, are held with considerable tenacity, as they are becoming scarce, and the demand for them is increasing. The general quality of the production during the past year or two has deteriorated considerably, producers, in consequence of the low rates prevailing, being obliged to use cheaper ores, and this accounts for the comparatively light supply of good stock at the present time. The stock of foundry grades is also light, particularly of Hanging Rock, owing to the suspension of navigation for several weeks, but the demand is by no means urgent, and prices remain unchanged.

Following sales were reported:

1,400 tons Lake Superior	8 50	4 mos

MANUFACTURED IRON—Trade is improving, or increasing is perhaps the word more expressive of the situation; nearly all the mills are now in operation, some of them working double turn, from which it is evident that they are pretty well supplied with orders, as none of them desire to accumulate much stock, but there is complaint in regard to prices, which are being cut so close that there is little or no margin for profit. There is no question but business is turning out better than was generally expected a few weeks ago, and if there was only more stability in regard to prices there would be no cause of complaint. The resumption of navigation is favorable to our manufacturers, as the cost of transporting by river is much less than by rail, and, in these days of close shaving, freightage is a very important matter.

NAILS—The market is fairly active and in a very healthy condition; stocks, both in first and second hands, are comparatively light, the indications are favorable for at least an average fall trade, and prices are being faithfully adhered to by manufacturers—there is an absence of cutting. We continue to quote: $2,85, 60 days, for less than 200 kegs, and $2,75, 60 days, for orders of 200 kegs and upwards. Usual discount of two ⅌ cent. for cash.

HORSE AND MULE SHOES—There is a continued fair demand, but no change in prices; 4½c ⅌ lb., cash for Horse Shoes, and 5½c, cash, for Mule Shoes.

SCRAP—There is an increasing business, although the inquiry is chiefly for small lots, and prices remain unchanged No. 1 wrought scrap quotable at 1,20a1,25, buying, and 1,30a1,35, selling.

The Roundheads Reunion.

The reunion of the Roundheads at Washton, Pa., on Thursday was a complete success. After the business meeting and the election of officers an adjournment was held until evening when an address was made at the Court House by Rev. George P. Hays, D. D., and a poem "South Mountain," by H. B. Durant, M. D., of the Protestant Advance, of this city was read. Letters of regret for non-attendance from Governor Hartranft, General Burnsides, and others were received. Later in the evening a superb banquet was disposed of, and appropriate toasts made and responded to. The next reunion will take place in New Castle, Pa., on the third Wednesday after the first Monday in June, 1877.

ALLEGHENY PARADE.

The Boys in Blue—A Thousand Men in Line.

The demonstration in Allegheny last evening, participated in by the Boys in Blue and the several equipped marching clubs on the North Side, was a most decided success. The turn-out was much larger than was anticipated, there being over a thousand men in line, and the sidewalks on both sides of the street along the route of procession were crowded with people. The column formed on Robinson street, with the right resting on Federal, and at half-past eight o'clock, under command of Marshal Megraw, moved over the route published yesterday. The people of Allegheny are evidently in earnest, and will give an old-fashioned Republican majority at the next election.

SUICIDE.

Death from Laudanum.

Mr. John C. Harper, residing at No. 138 Market street, Sixth ward, Allegheny, terminated his career on earth yesterday by taking a dose of laudanum. Mr. Harper has for a number of years been employed in the plow works of Hall & Speer, now Speer & Sons, of this city, as a blacksmith. He was an excellent workman and until within a year or two past a sober and industrious man. Recently, however, he has been addicted to the intemperate use of intoxicating liquors, and has suffered some reverses financially which had a very depressing effect upon him. He came home at noon yesterday, and had not been in the house but a few minutes when he started for the river with the intention of drowning himself. He was frustrated in his design, however, and induced to return to his home. Shortly after one o'clock his daughter went into his room and found him sleeping as she supposed, and was about to leave the room when she discovered a note on the table. She took it up and read it and it proved to have been written by her father, and in it he bid farewell to his wife and children. This aroused the suspicions of the young lady and she sent for a physician who came and on examination discovered that he had taken a large dose of laudanum. A stomach pump was brought into requisition, but to no effect—the drug having taken too firm a hold on him, and about three o'clock he died. The coroner has been notified and will hold an inquest on the body to-day.

The Year of Attractions.

This world is full of natural beauty, and man everywhere seems bent on making this a year of special attractions in the line of art. Among this number is R. Taggart of 129 Federal street, Allegheny City, who has an attractive display of ladies and gents fine qualities of boots, shoes and gaiters. Taggart's business is a second nature to him, and he is never happier than when he is making the greatest efforts to procure for his patrons, something new or very elegant in his line. Another matter that affords him real pleasure is to sell to his customers at the lowest figure the material and make-up will permit. These are the qualities that render his store so immensely popular with all classes.

A PRESBYTERIAN MINISTER has discovered that Charles Sumner was not a Unitarian as has been supposed. He says he was in the house of a ministerial friend, at Washington, with Mr. Sumner and one other person present, when the minister said: "Mr. Sumner, I have always understood that you are a Unitarian; that you do not believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ, nor in prayer." Mr. Sumner, dropping his head for a moment, replied: "Mr. ——, I believe in prayer, and I pray daily; and I believe in the divinity of Jesus Christ, and trust him as my Almighty Saviour; He is my only trust."

THE popular mind is sensitive to noise and show, which accounts for the fact that many men of abundant demonstration create so much excitement as orators and workers, and seem to be accomplishing such extensive results. After all, it is the steady-going, and, perhaps, but little seen disciples who are the real benefactors; and when the frothy and noisy workers have passed away, their good works will tell of their power and blessing. It is easy to fly around, spurt, blast and fume in the excitement of effervescing zeal; but it requires real character to enable one to work steadily through months and years towards the attainment of desirable objects.—United Presbyterian.

Have You Heard from Boston?

It is conceded in all parts of our country that Boston is the hub of trade as well as learning. One convincing proof that its people can do some things as well as others is the fact that the Boston Clothing House, No. 95 Smithfield street, takes the lead among clothing houses for the heavy stock kept constantly in store, and also for the great variety of qualities and styles. None can fail in being suited here, either in quality, style or price. One very desirable feature in their ready-made clothing is that especial pains are taken in its manufacture to insure durability of wear. The giving way of seams, so common in this class of clothing, is an annoyance to which those who wear of the Boston Clothing House suits are never subjectle.

A Wedding Window.

Kinder Blair, and his right hand young man, Isaac Skiles, show the public a beautiful window at their Fifth avenue establishment. It is a wedding feast in miniature, with a big cake bearing a mansard roof of icing, and flanked about with the choicest viands and most appetising dishes. It is a pretty sight that compels young men to crowd about and think of the day that is coming, and young maidens to gaze and wonder if their wedding supper will look like that. Both sexes agree that when their time comes, Blair shall have sole charge of this interesting department.

BREVITIES.

Paragraphic Pencilings of Passing Events.

····Eleven car loads of excursionists left for the Centennial over the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yesterday.

····Dr. E. Porter, a resident of Shousetown, was thrown from his horse on Thursday evening and very seriously injured. He had to crawl nearly two miles to his home, being unable to walk.

····Henry Reifer, a carpenter residing on the South Side, had three of his toes amputated yesterday. He was at work in a building and let a hatchet fall which, striking his toes nearly severed them from his foot. Dr. Riggs completed the job for him.

····The reunion of the officers and members of the Ninth Pennsylvania cavalry, which was to have been held in Lancaster on Wednesday, the 20th inst., has been postponed until Wednesday, 27th inst., on account of the Odd Fellows' excursion being on the 20th.

····The window glass factories all stopped operations yesterday on account of the strike of the "gatherers" and "tenders." Only three houses were in full blast, Esteps, Chambers and Ihmsen's on the South Side, and the bars in these furnaces were pulled yesterday morning. It is said that these tenders make from twenty to thirty dollars per week.

····We are gratified to learn that the firm of Rumberger, Gregg & Co., proprietors of the Craigsville woolen mills, have been awarded a large contract by the Government for flannels, which will keep them running day and night for six months. This is certainly complimentary to this firm, as it had to compete with some of the largest mills in the country.

····A drover named A. McGrath was robbed near the Rush House, Thursday night, of a pocketbook containing money and drafts amounting to $1,300. Officer Sol. Coulson arrested near the Rush House in the morning John Schroeder, whom McGrath recognized as the robber. He was before the Mayor at half-past six o'clock, waived a hearing and was committed for trial.

····Patrick Leonard and William Young recently convicted in Cambria county of murder in the second degree for the murder of Patrick O'Brien, a switchman, at Gallitzin on the 20th of May last, were sentenced on Thursday to eight years each in the Penitentiary. The prisoners with four others sentenced to the Penitentiary from that county, were taken to that institution yesterday, by Sheriff Bowman.

····The jury empannelled to investigate the matter of the death of James Gardner, an account of which was published Thursday, returned the following verdict: "James Gardner, of the Fourth ward, Pittsburgh, came to his death on the evening of September 13, 1876, at his home on Penn avenue, from injuries accidentally received by being struck and run over by a locomotive of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway Company, at the east end of the Pittsburgh tunnel, said accident being caused by negligence by not having the said Gardner notified of the approach of the east bound train."

····A young married man named Sydney Newberry, accompanied by his wife and an infant child, called at the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon and related a pitiful story. Newberry had lived at Braddock's for four years, laboring at the Edgar Thompson steel works. Recently he was discharged, there being no need of his services longer. Having no friends in this locality, he made up his mind to remove to Smithfield, Utah, twenty-four miles from Salt Lake City, where he has an uncle residing. He accordingly sold off his household goods, and yesterday reached the city on his way West. He had with him about $105 or $106, and ascertaining that the train would not leave until evening he went to Allegheny city, and in the vicinity of the outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, being thirsty, they went into a tavern and got a glass of ale. Shortly after coming out he missed his pocket book. He returned to the tavern in search of it, but no one had seen it. The detectives think it was stolen. Newberry and his wife were sent to the Guardians of the Poor for relief.

····There was a very decided muddle at the Union Depot yesterday from early in the morning until late at night, occasioned by an accident on the middle division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, something that has not occurred on that road for fifteen years, by which all the trains East and West were delayed over twelve hours. All trains due here after one o'clock yesterday morning were delayed until after four o'clock last evening, and as a consequence there were some ten or twelve trains arrived at or about the same time. Through courtesy of Superintendent Pitcairn we were furnished with the following brief account of the accident: Engine "4" coal train East ran into a land slide at the rope ferry, east of Thompsontown, upsetting and throwing it across both tracks on its side, with five or six flat cars on top, killing the conductor, named Etter, and badly cutting the engineer and fireman, and delaying the Fast Line West, and the Atlantic Express East until six o'clock this morning, when the track was cleared, the Fast Line and morning trains coming in on the Pacific Express schedule.

A Few Words to the Toothless.

We pity those who are so unfortunate as to require a new set of masticators, but we have still greater pity for those who have had the double misfortune to fall into the hands of dental quackery. Better by far an empty mouth than a set of ill-fitting and troublesome teeth. Parties in need of the services of a dentist should make haste slowly, and scrutinize very closely the character of the man and the work, before employing one in a matter requiring so much care, caution and skill. This much by way of caution and then we may be permitted to say that Messrs. Gillespie & Wade, Dental Surgeons, of No. 246 Penn avenue, are in every respect what good and skillful dentists should be. They are honorable men, on whom parties can rely for honest work and fair treatment, and well-skilled and experienced in their profession.

Advice.

If you would be respected, successful in business, and personally comfortable, you should have your suits made by B. Tiegel, No. 53 Smithfield street, whose stock of fashionable suitings are of the most excellent and durable material, and whose reputation for the manufacture of neatly fitting garments is beyond question. He is one of the men for whom Diogenes searched, and therefore, you need not fear that he will charge you two prices. Cheap.

Something Worth Knowing.

A few days ago, happening to meet a young man of our acquaintance who looked as if he had just been lifted out of a bandbox, we were prompted, from the general neatness of his outfit, to ask where he had purchased his new suit. He said at Eisner & Phillips, corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue. We suggested that of course the suit had been ordered to measure. He said not at all; that he had selected it from among the large stock of ready-made suits that filled their counters. And yet how neat and genteel.

W. J. Fullerton

Wishes to call the attention of his friends and customers to his well selected stock of Fall and Winter Goods for men's wear.

Samuel Williams

Also desires to notify his old friends that he has charge of the Cutting Department, and will be glad to serve them with anything they may want in our line. The goods sold in this establishment are of the best quality and the prices moderate. SM.

Let Every one Read This.

Cheap and trashy furniture is an annoyance, worse than useless, and dear at any price. But there are houses that keep the extra qualities, and ask no higher prices than many dealers do for the shoddy article. Such an establishment is that of Messrs. J. J. Milliken & Co., 89 Smithfield street, where men of integrity and veracity manufacture an honest and elegant line of all kinds of furniture at fair and reasonable rates. No house in the city is more worthy the patronage of the public.

During the present political campaign there will be a large number of processions, and red fire will form a prominent part in these displays. McClaren & McKennan, 85 Market street, and 67 Fifth avenue, are prepared to supply the article in any quantity desired at the lowest prices.

The Rank is but The Guinea's Stamp.

Another rank is in the neatness and gentility of the dress. Call on Bleakly & Kunz, merchant tailors, No. 70 Smithfield street, for full particulars.

ADDITIONAL TELEGRAMS.

THE INDIAN WAR.

GEN. TERRY'S EXPEDITION.

The Campaign Ended—The Troops on Their Way Home—The Soldiers Poorly Clad and Likely to Suffer—No Purpose of the Expedition Accomplished, and One-Fourth of the Troops Killed by Bullet or Exposure.

CHICAGO, September 15.—The Times special correspondent with Terry telegraphs under date of Fort Buford, mouth of the Yellowstone, 8th, via Bismarck, 14th instant: The final breaking up of Terry's command occurred yesterday morning, and all the troops are now en route home, with the exception of two regiments of infantry, which will winter at the mouth of the Tongue river. The Montana troops, numbering two hundred and fifty infantry and one hundred and twenty horses, and including seventy infantry and the Second Cavalry under General Gibbon, left for Fort Ellis with the wagon train and supplies for eighty days. They will follow the old Stanley trail. The route is teeming with hostiles and four hundred and twenty miles long. They may encounter a large war party in the Big Horn country. They have been in the field since March, and are poorly clad for the cold weather and fierce storms which sweep over the prairies at this season. The Twenty-second Infantry have been left at the mouth of Glendine creek, and have commenced the construction of a stockade. They will remain till November 1st, or later. The Seventh Cavalry have left for Fort Buford, and will move along the north bank of the Yellowstone. After arriving here they will go to Fort Lincoln to winter. The Sixteenth Infantry will remain here. General Terry and staff arrived here this morning, and will remain a few days, and then go to St. Paul via Bismarck. By the 15th all troops will have been withdrawn from the northern country except the Fifth and Second Cavalry, containing four hundred men.

A dispatch just received from General Sheridan countermands the order to winter a regiment of cavalry on the Yellowstone, which renders winter campaigning impossible and indefinitely postpones the subjection of the Sioux. Terry leaves the field having accomplished no purpose of the expedition, and with one quarter of his troops killed by bullets or exposure.

THE PEACE COMMISSION.

No Progress Made Towards Negotiating a Treaty.

RED CLOUD AGENCY, NEB., September 13—VIA SIDNEY, NEB., September 15.—To-day a committee consisting of Bishop Whipple and Dr. Daniels was appointed by the Indian Commission to go to Spotted Tail to-morrow and submit propositions to the Indians of that agency on Friday, Major Howard and Mr. Henmann being requested to accompany them. The party is to come back and rejoin the remainder of the Commission here on Saturday. Spotted Tail, Two Strike and Whirlwind, of the Brule tribe, came up from Spotted Tail Agency yesterday, and are now here. This evening they had a council with the Red Cloud Indians regarding the propositions, and return to their agency to-morrow. It is reported here that Spotted Tail himself favors the proposition to go to the Indian Territory. The indications now are that a talk will be had here on Monday, the 18th, at which something definite will be arrived at, as the Indians of both agencies will by that time have fully discussed matters, though the visit of the committee to Spotted Tail at this time will not do away with the visit of the commission to that agency in a body after the conclusion of a treaty here. There has been no talk with the Indians by the commission since the first one held on the seventh day after the commission arrived.

CENTENNIAL NOTES.

Increased Attendance at the Exposition—New York's Day on October 21st—Sensational Reports Denied.

PHILADELPHIA, September 15.—At the Centennial grounds yesterday, at 1 P. M., there were over seventy-three thousand paying visitors registered, and, according to all previous experience, at least fifteen thousand should have entered after that hour, but the registry shows only a third of that number. It was, however, the best paying day the Exhibition has had, the cash receipts being over forty thousand dollars for the main grounds and the stock-yard show. The attendance has very largely increased with this month, and it is anticipated that next week will show even a larger return than this week.

New York's day is appointed for the 21st prox. Every effort has been and is being made to make this one of the most memorable days of the Exhibition and a creditable one for the great Empire State. The railroads will run their trains so as to accommodate the greatest amount of travel, and have reduced the rates of passage to a very low figure to accommodate all who wish to take part. Governor Tilden and staff and a number of distinguished citizens will be present, and during the afternoon will hold a reception at their State building.

The sensational reports concerning bad water here and an unusual amount of sickness prevailing are wholly unfounded, as the season thus far has been more than usually healthy.

RAID ON A CHURCH BALL.

A Priest, Forty-five Men and Twelve Girls Arrested for Holding Noisy Orgies.

NEW YORK, September 15.—A short time ago a Polish Catholic Church, with Rev. Adalberg Mieleuszky as pastor, was established at 314 Henry street. In the rear of the church a room was fitted up for fairs and balls, the proceeds of which, it is alleged, went to the support of services in the church. On Thursday night of each week a ball was given—admission ten cents. The people of the neighborhood decided that the place was a nuisance, and its abatement was ordered. So last evening, when the young people had gathered in force and lager was flowing freest and the fun was the most vociferous, a detachment of police made a descent upon the place and captured forty-five young men and twelve girls, about a hundred managing to make their escape, and marched all to the station house, Rev. Adalberg at the head. This morning all were released except the pastor. Other Catholic clergymen in the neighborhood have frequently denounced the hall and prohibited young people from attending.

Yellow Fever and Destitution in Savannah.

SAVANNAH, September 15.—The yellow fever interments were twenty-seven. Over half of the colored population are depending upon the charity of the whites and destitution is increasing.

TELEGRAPHIC SPARKS.

—Hell-gate is to be blown to pieces next Thursday.

—The Savannah authorities say they have much suffering and distress in the city from yellow fever and money is much needed.

—Daniel Browne, of New York, who could not get work, was so annoyed by his wife and his mother-in-law, Bridget Seaborough, that he clubbed the old lady to death yesterday. She was seventy years of age.

—Judge Westbrook, of New York, yesterday granted an injunction restraining President Grant and the Secretary of State from issuing a mandate for the surrender of Leopald Vettel who has been demanded for extradition by the Austrian authorities on a charge of forgery.

—There never was witnessed in New York a more enthusiastic gathering than assembled in Gilmore's Garden last night, on the occasion of the presentation of the riflemen's trophy to the victorious American team. Nearly 8,000 people were in attendance and heartily cheered the various teams as they entered the building. Gov. Hanley made the presentation speech, and it was followed with speeches and national songs.

THE Cincinnati Commercial, of Thursday says: The owners of New Orleans steamboat stock have held several meetings lately, the result of which is the pooling of their earnings, similar to the organization at St. Louis. We hope the new arrangement will prove profitable to those interested. All shippers desire is a moderate and uniform rate of freight.

VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood, Renovates and Invigorates the Whole System.

Its Medicinal Properties are

ALTERATIVE, TONIC, SOLVENT AND DIURETIC.

VEGETINE is made exclusively from the juices of carefully selected barks, roots and herbs, and so strongly concentrated that it will effectually eradicate from the system, every taint of Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Tumors, Cancer, Cancerous Humors, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Syphilitic Diseases, Canker, Faintness at the Stomach, and all diseases that arise from impure blood. Sciatica, Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Gout and Spinal Complaints, can only be effectually cured through the blood.

For Ulcers and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, Pustules, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter, Scaldhead and Ringworm, VEGETINE has never failed to effect a permanent cure.

For Pains in the Back, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Female weakness, Leucorrhœa, raising from internal ulceration, and uterine diseases and General Debility, VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflammation, cures ulceration, and regulates the bowels.

For Catarrh, Dyspepsia, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Headache, Piles, Nervous and General prostration of the Nervous System, no medicine has ever given such perfect satisfaction as the VEGETINE. It purifies the blood, cleanses all the organs, and possesses a controlling power over the nervous system.

The remarkable cures effected by VEGETINE have induced many physicians and apothecaries whom we know to prescribe and use it in their own families.

In fact, VEGETINE is the best remedy yet discovered for the above diseases, and it is the only reliable BLOOD PURIFIER yet placed before the public.

UNQUALIFIED APPRECIATION.

BOSTON, Nov. 18, 1875.

H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.:

Dear Sir—During the past five years I have had ample opportunity to judge of the merit of VEGETINE My wife has used it for complaints attending a lady of delicate health, with more beneficial results than anything else which she ever tried. I have given it to my children under almost every circumstance attending a large family, and always with marked benefit. I have taken it myself with such great benefit that I cannot find words to express my unqualified appreciation of its goodness.

While performing my duties as a Police officer in this city, it has been my lot to fall in with a great deal of sickness. I unhesitatingly recommend VEGETINE and I never knew of a case where it did not prove all that was claimed for it. Particularly in cases of a debilitated or impoverished state of the blood its effects are really wonderful; and for all complaints arising form an impure state of the blood it appears to work like a charm, and I do not believe there are any circumstances under which VEGETINE can be used with injurious results, and it will always afford me pleasure to give any further information as to what I know about VEGETINE.

CANNOT BE EXCELLED.

CHARLESTOWN, March 19, 1869.

H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have used your blood preparation (VEGETINE) in my family for several years, and think that, for Scrofula or Cankerous Humors, or Rheumatic Affections, it cannot be excelled; and, as a blood-purifier and spring medicine, it is the best thing I have ever used; and I have used almost everything. I can cheerfully recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. A. A. DINSMORE,
19 Russell street.

A Source of Great Anxiety.

My daughter has received great benefit from the use of the VEGETINE. Her declining health was a source of great anxiety to all of her friends. A few bottles of the VEGETINE restored her health, strength and appetite.
